

WESTERLY INTERESTED IN WEDDING

Niece of Charles H. Gaviitt Married at Providence—Vito Company May Get Watch Hill Road Contract—State Institutes Proceedings in Connection With Bradford Wreck—Death of James S. Coon.

Several Westerly relatives and friends of the family, as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Rogers, formerly of Westerly, attended the wedding of Miss Ruth Louise Rogers and Russell Curtis Fales, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fales, at the Rogers home, in Parkside, Providence, Tuesday evening.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with southern smilax, ferns and spring flowers. All the archways and staircases were hung with southern smilax and large groups of palms were used in the hall, one group partly concealing Miss Margarette Gardner as she played the harp. A bank of palms, started with generosity, reached to the ceiling in the drawing room, in front of which the receiving party welcomed the guests. Pale pink carnations, pussy willows and ferns fringed with farlyenese ferns decorated the mantel, while clusters of similar flowers, placed here and there. The adjoining room was attractive with quantities of pink tulips and farlyenese fern, while other pink blossoms added beauty to the scheme of decoration.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Fred Alexander Rogers of Indianapolis as matron of honor, Miss Laura L. Davis of New York, Miss Margarette Gardner and Miss Mildred Johnson of Providence as bridesmaids, and Miss Eleanor Leach as flower girl. The attendants, with the ushers, Ferdinand P. Titworth of New York, Fred Alexander Rogers of Indianapolis and Albert Davis of Providence, preceded the bride and her father, by whom she was given away, through a ribboned aisle to the drawing room, where the bridegroom and his best man, George L. Fales, were awaiting them. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. James E. McConnell.

The bride came from Lohengrin was played by Miss Gardner on the harp.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and princess lace, with court train. Her veil of princess lace was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore yellow net over gold cloth. She carried pink roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in blue net over pink and silver cloth, caught up with small pink flowers.

Their bouquets were of Killarney roses tied with pink malines. The little flower girl wore a French waisted frock of white striped organdie, trimmed with Irish crochet, and pink sash and hair ribbons. She carried a gold basket filled with pink rose petals, roses and ribbon ornamenting the handle.

During the reception, from 8 to 10 o'clock, the bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving their friends by their parents.

The bridegroom gave the bride a rope of pearls, and to his best man and ushers scarf pins set with a sapphire and diamond. The bride's gift to the bridegroom was a pearl and platinum cuff links, and she gave the matron of honor and bridesmaids platinum and pearl spot pins.

Supper was served during the evening and an orchestra played for dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fales left later on their wedding journey, after which they will occupy their new room at 17 Westview avenue, Westwood.

The bride is niece of Charles H. Gaviitt of Westerly.

W. Hoxie, Charles F. Potter, Caleb T. Otwell, George H. Thomas of South Kingston, George H. Card, George D. Briggs, Walter R. Peirce, John J. McElhenny, of North Kingston; Samuel S. Greene, of Charlestown; George W. Burdick, Wanton W. Edwards of Hopkinton; Albert Hoyle of Richmond; William T. Sherman, of Exeter; Isaac A. Allen of Narragansett. The court appointed Mr. Woodward of Westerly foreman.

When the grand jury retired the trial of the case of Henry P. Collins against Dr. Henry Johnson, an action to recover for injuries received in an automobile accident, and which was commenced in Westerly, was resumed before Judge Stearns and a jury.

The action of the grand jury is independent of any action that may be taken as a result of the joint investigation made by the Interstate Commerce and Public Utilities Commission.

Albert Babcock, a native of Westerly, son of the late Edwin Babcock, who is with the law firm of Comstock & Gardner in Providence, was re-elected president of the Rhode Island Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, at the forty-sixth annual meeting which was held Tuesday, and was also re-elected a trustee. The officers elected are: Rt. Rev. James De Wolf Perry, Rt. Rev. Matthew Hawkins, Samuel P. Colt, Samuel P. Nicholson, Elbridge T. Gerry, Dr. Anne W. Hunt, Benjamin F. Arnold, Walter R. Callender, Mrs. Mary R. Tew, Arthur W. Denison, vice president; James N. Smith, secretary; Herbert C. Calf, auditor; Ralph S. Richards, treasurer; Barton A. Dalton, M. Albertson, Earl G. Whelden, William E. Baker, Mrs. Walter Hidden, Mrs. George A. Freeman, executive committee.

The by-laws were changed so that the president, the secretary, and three other members, a board of managers to transact business in the intervals when the executive committee is not in session. Another amendment directs the trustees to take charge of the property of the society, and to make an annual report.

The report of the treasurer showed total receipts of $28,839, expenditures of $28,789, and a cash balance of $1,227.71. The property owned by the society is in excellent condition and netting a substantial revenue. A new bequest of $2,000 from the estate of Asha A. E. Branch was announced. A year ago the report showed a membership of 194, lost by death 8, new members added 38, making a total of 197. During the year the society investigated 5,551 cases.

At the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the state council of Rhode Island, Order of United American Mechanics, held in Providence, these officers were elected: S. Palmer of Providence, state councillor; Silas M. Smith, vice councillor; O. C. Barrows, secretary; J. Frank Coffin, treasurer; Henry A. Amey, auditor; Ralph H. Whitman, examiner; Oliver C. Strauch, protector; Earl H. Potter, trustee; Fred A. Morrill, Danforth R. Garrett and James P. McKinnell, representatives to the national council. The officers were installed by National Secretary H. O. McDevitt of Hartsburg, Pa. The state council has made an increase of twenty in membership during the year.

James Sloan, for many years foreman at the New England Granite works, died Wednesday at his home, 16 Summer street, after a long illness. He is survived by Mrs. Sloan, two sons, Arthur and William, and three daughters, Ruth, Alice and Edith Sloan. Mr. Sloan was born in Dalbeattie, Scotland, May 14, 1861, and came to this country twenty years ago, and has lived in Westerly most of that time. In 1883 he married Georgia Miller, daughter of George and Mary Miller, of Westerly.

Clarence G. Sargent, of Westerly, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $319, and assets $27. The largest creditors are: Davis Sewall of New London, $150; Outlet company, Providence, $38; Kissenger & Ockert company, New Haven, $42. All unsecured. Among the creditors of the bankrupt estate are: Andrew J. Barbour & Company, of Providence, is Grace Carmack, of Putnam, for $500. The liabilities are $1,603 and assets $240.

Ella P. Robinson and Ruth Robinson of South Kingston, and Percy W. Gardner, of Providence, have filed articles of association in the office of the secretary of state, in Rhode Island.

HOW LONDONERS ARE DRESSING THIS SPRING

Cut of white gaberdine with set-in sleeves, all pockets and a V neck, this one-piece gown of English design is smart, with its sash of crimson silk heavily tasseled. About the armholes and neck is a bit of hand embroidery in crimson, and the hem is white corduroy.

MYSTIC

Dutch Supper Follows Degree Work of Stonington Lodge—Class Pays Surprise Visit to Mrs. Jabez Brooks—Increase in Parcel Post Business.

Stonington lodge, No. 28, I. O. O. F., held an interesting session in Masonic temple, Wednesday evening, when the third degree was conferred on a class of ten. The work of the degree was carried out in an able manner. It was the 97th anniversary of the order, and the members of the order and the members of the Mystic encampment No. 50, I. O. O. F., attended in a body, about fifty being present. After the work all went to the banquet hall where a Dutch supper was served. The committee in charge was Orris W. Perry, Charles Craig, Ernest Fish and William Ward.

Surprise Visit.
The members of Mrs. Jabez Brooks' Sunday school class and a few friends gave her a surprise party at her home on Greenfield avenue, Tuesday evening. About twenty were present. Games were played, music was enjoyed and refreshments were served.
